HMPA Postdoc Paper Chase Congratulation on your recent publications!

Dear postdocs in the HMS community,

Have you recently published good journals?
Do you want your work to be heard and to attract more attention?
Do you want your paper to be celebrated in our newsletter and social media?
Do you want to win an award based on the talk of your work?

The professional career committee of HMPA invites you to sign up via this google doc link to let us heard about your recent publications. After an eligibility screening, we will select the publications with great impact on biomedical science and clinical practice to life science and human health.

Some key rules for the eligibility screen are listed here:

- You must be a first author or one of the co-first authors of this publication;
- You must be a postdoc in HMS / HSDM / HSPH and HMS-affiliated hospitals;
- By the date signing up our google doc link, Your paper must be published within the last six months,
- Your paper must make key contributions to biomedical sciences/clinics.

What YOU receive from us after your submission:

- Our HMPA website will have a section to keep records and promote your paper;
  - Our social media, e.g., Twitter / Facebook / Instagram, can help You to promote Your work.
  - You might have a chance to get collaborations through this advertisement for your work.
- All first authors of the selected publications are eligible to participate in the academic talks in a regular manner (10 min for each). We will invite several professors to judge the value of your work and the talk. Then ten awards will be made each time.

We look forward to receiving your submission and to celebrating your work in the HMS postdoc community!

Sincerely,
Professional Development Committee, HMPA
